

An astounding achievement

ALPINA presents: a compact, wallet-size calculator which turns into a rock-steady desk machine when mounted on its sturdy base. Everybody with an eye for "star" qualifications will immediately appreciate the ALPINA's decorative elegance and unerring efficiency. Genuine pocket size, combined with amazing capacity, make the ALPINA an indispensable aid for any kind of calculation. In its standard case or leather everready case the ALPINA is always at hand for the field engineer, the business man, the building contractor and civil engineer, the forester, the surveyor, and all the "men in the field".

With just a flip of your finger-tip you transform your ALPINA into an elegant desk machine held by its sturdy and rock-steady base. In the office, at home, and wherever you may need it — the ALPINA will help you save time.

A masterpiece of ingenuity

And here is a technical close-up of the ALPINA:

Simple and clear-cut arrangement of all registers —
End-to-end decade transfer permitting short multiplication — Easy-to-operate clearing rings — Uncomplicated setting of decimal points by simple slide movements — Hardened steel registers ensuring maximum life even under heavy-duty conditions —
Automatic switch-over of rotation counter for minus calculations, indicated by red figures — Optimum capacity utilization of all three registers.

Whether in its case, the leather everready case or on its base, the ALPINA — like a camera — is always at hand.
It is ideal for outdoor use: first-class materials and a perfect finish — inside and out — make the ALPINA
a universal, all-weather calculator.
